CompanyFormationWiki
The free encyclopedia of company formation
companyformationwiki.com

Accessibility statement

From CompanyFormationWiki, the free encyclopedia of company formation · Last updated 26 November 2026

We want CompanyFormationWiki to be usable by everyone. We aim to meet the Web Content Accessibility Guidelines (WCAG) 2.1 at level AA.

What we do

- Every page is plain HTML that works without JavaScript and with screen readers.
- Pages have a logical heading structure, a skip-to-content link, labelled navigation and breadcrumbs.
- Text can be zoomed to 200% without loss of content, and the layout adapts to small screens.
- Colours meet contrast requirements in both light and dark mode.
- Keyboard users can reach every link, menu, search result and form field, including the “Suggest an edit” dialog; focus is always visible.
- Animations are reduced when your system asks for reduced motion.

Known limitations

- Flags and coats of arms are decorative and have short text alternatives; their heraldic detail is not described.
- Some linked official websites are outside our control and may not be accessible.

Feedback

If you find a barrier, tell us using the contact details in the Legal notice. Please include the page address and what went wrong.

Source: https://companyformationwiki.com/accessibility/
Version: last updated 26 November 2026. Check the online version for later changes.

© 2026 CompanyFormationWiki. CompanyFormationWiki is a free encyclopedia of company formation, business structures and international tax across 222 jurisdictions. General information, not legal or tax advice. Confirm with the official registry, the tax authority or a qualified adviser before acting.