CompanyFormationWiki uses the following third-party images. National symbols are shown for identification only. Their use here does not imply any endorsement by, or connection with, any government.

Flags

Country flags come from flag-icons by Panayiotis Lipiridis, released under the MIT licence.

Fonts

Text is set in Inter and Source Serif 4, both released under the SIL Open Font License 1.1. The fonts are served from this website, not from a third-party font service.

Coats of arms and national emblems

Coats of arms, the Great Seal of the United States and the emblem of the United Arab Emirates come from the coat-of-arms package by Islomjon Ergashev (MIT licence for the package). The drawings themselves were collected mostly from Wikimedia Commons, where each file has its own licence, usually public domain or Creative Commons Attribution-ShareAlike.

- Singapore: “Coat of arms of Singapore”, Wikimedia Commons, licensed under CC BY-SA 3.0. The file was optimised for the web; the drawing is unchanged.
- Other countries: see the original file pages on Wikimedia Commons for author and licence details.

Many countries restrict the use of state emblems, for example in trademarks, advertising or anything that suggests official endorsement. CompanyFormationWiki shows them only in an encyclopedic context.
